South Carolina Orchid Society

ESTABLISHED 1964
AN AFFILIATE OF THE AMERICAN ORCHID SOCIETY

January 2023 Program

The next SCOS Meeting will be held on Sunday, January 15th at 12:30 PM. We will meet at the new Garden Club Council Building, 1605 Park Circle, Maxcy Gregg Park, Columbia, SC.

In addition to her great deal of service to the American Orchid Society, Linda has always prioritized participation in local societies and travel to shows to broaden her experiences. She has judged orchid shows and given lectures in various international locations including: Joinville, Brazil; Trinidad; Guatemala City and Coban, Guatemala; Medellin, Colombia; Costa Rica; San Salvador; Barbados; Haiti; Nairobi, Kenya; and Toronto, Canada. Within the United States, Linda has traveled all over the country to give lectures at local orchid societies. She also has taught orchid classes at Daniel Stowe Botanical Gardens.

Linda Wilhem will present, "The Wonderful World of Oncidiums". The program introduces many of the base species that were used to create a large portion of the intergeneric hybrids within the oncidium alliance available today, as well as learning about some new and interesting species. Linda has been growing orchids for 45 years, and ran Woodland Orchids with her husband Rolf, for 30 years. She has hybridized orchids of various genera, as well as traveled all over the country to participate in shows and orchid festivals. Her plants have received over 115 AOS awards. Linda became a student judge with the American Orchid Society in 1995. Served as the center Chairperson for the Carolinas judging center from 2005 through 2009. She has since been the Education and Training Coordinator for the center on several occasions.

Linda has served on many AOS committees throughout the years. She has served as a member of the AOS Board of Directors. Show. In addition, she has served on the AOS Information Committee, the AOS Judging Committee, the AOS Membership and Marketing Committee, the AOS Conservation Committee, and the AOS Audit Committee as Chairperson in 2020.

General Meeting Information

November 2022 Minutes

President Mark Mull opened the meeting by welcoming 15 visitors. Each of the visitors received a small phalaenopsis as a gift. Cary Chamblee announced that Doris Kahn, age 98, had died about 10 days previously. She had been active in garden and camellia clubs for many years. Dave Grieve gave the treasurer's report. SCOS has $9,339.27 in its checking account.

Stan Hutto announced the programs for upcoming meetings. In January, Linda Wilhelm, AOS judge and former owner of Woodland Orchids in Charlotte, will speak on "The Wonderful World of Oncidiums." In February, Susan and Charles Wilson, both AOS judges out of the Atlanta Judging Center, will present programs on Galeandras and Calanthes. At the March meeting, we will discuss preparation for the SCOS show to be held on April 14-16.

After the business meeting, the auction was held. Donors of plants in the auction included Clay Owens, Emily Grimboll, Doris Salzman, Bridget Uzar of Carter and Holmes, Russ Bolt of Looking Glass Orchids, Dave Grieve, Nancy Graham, and David Janvrin. In addition, Jennifer Stott contributed a number of her beautiful hand-made orchid pots.

A BIG thanks to Clay Owen who put together pictures and details on each of the plants to assist the bidders, as well as his time to collect the plants and set them up. The auction was conducted by Clay Owens, with David Janvrin providing color commentary. Also thanks to Pami Hagan and Dave Grieve for assisting with recording the sales. This auction was very successful raised a total of $4,411 that will go towards funding our 2023 Orchid Show in April.

Respectfully submitted,

Alleene Smith

SCOS 2022 & 2023 Thoughts

It was great to re-start SCOS meetings in 2022 and also celebrate the re-opening of the new Garden Council Club building. I hope everyone had a great holiday! We had some very cold days and nights in December and hope all of your plants are doing well. I know my space heaters in the greenhouse were struggling to keep up as we made it down to 6 degrees one morning and the greenhouse was down to 49 degrees.

Thanks to Stan Hutto for arranging a great group of speakers for 2023. We are also holding our first Orchid Show since 2019 this April. As well, we've been asked to participate in several other societies shows:

Triad/Greensboro NC, March 10-12
Asheville NC, March 29—April 2—
SCOS—April 12-14

We are also very sad to announce that long time member Walter Procko passed away December 1, 2022. We may have some of Walter's orchids available at our January meeting.

Kind Regards,
Mark Mull
